Influence of Music on Citizenship.

(A part of an address made by Prof. J. W. Ireland at the Kentucky Educational Association in June.)

Some one has said that school music should possess four distinct qualities. It must be inspirational, intellectual, devotional and patriotic. Since we make this assumption, which I believe a fact, how can it be denied that the influence of music on citizenship is for good? And, too, where will it bring greater results than in the schools of our land, where we may reach the mind in its formative stage?

What can be more potent elements in the make up of a desirable citizen than the four above named qualities? Every one of us should have inspiration or an inner breath or breathing in of wholesome emotions together with a knowledge or grasp of the thoughts and feelings of the higher life, and each citizen should be devoted to the principles of church and State. Music, which possesses these four qualities, becomes the most potent factor in instilling these ideal elements of good citizenship into one's character. What more sublime passions than these, outside the realms of the spiritual?

One of the mightiest forces of true citizenship is patriotism. Just as the noble Southerner is thrilled almost to electrification by the entrancing strains of Dixie, or the Kentuckian is enraptured by "The Old Kentucky Home," so is the child made to feel a tinge of patriotism when our patriotic lyrics are sung into his soul.

Martin Luther expressed himself as heartily in favor of every youth becoming accustomed to music, for, as he said, it made good and virtuous citizens. What more pleasant and profitable way can we find to make such citizens than by giving instructions to the child in this finest of arts? Such we are striving to do in our own Graded and High School, and we hope to see it established in every school in our goodly land.

Music is the hand-maid of religion and morality, and hence we can safely say that it has a most salutary influence upon the citizen. There is music in everything; for which reason let us be trained to recognize and appreciate it. Do you not remember to have read in sacred writ of that instance when the Lord asked Job from a whirlwind: Where were you when the morning stars sang together and all the sons of God shouted for joy?

Since music is in everything, and is a condition not a theory, I affirm that the individual who is void of the faculty of recognizing it, lacks just that much of being the best citizen, not that one must be able to execute it, but as we have said, recognize and appreciate it.

The Bard of Avon has this to say about a man who does not have this all but heavenly attribute: The man that hath no music in himself Nor is not moved with a concord of sweet sounds, Is fit for treasons, stratagems and spoils;

The notions of his spirit are as dull as night And his affections dark as Erebus; Let no such man be trusted.

Thus, we may see what kind of citizen a man would make who has no music in his soul, if we may rely upon the great writer of Literature.

What would our religious services be without music? I maintain that a life without music would be just as empty or sterile as a church service without it. More and more do we see that music is a universal quality. It is the best expression of all the passions.

"Music the fiercest grief can charm And fates' severest rage disarm, Music can soften pain to ease And make despair and madness please; Our joys below, it can improve And antedate the bliss above."

Anything that can antedate the bliss above, will most assuredly make a better citizen here below. It lifts one out of the pale of the common place and places him upon a higher and transfigured plane.

Paul and Silas sang praises unto God while incarcerated in prison at Philippi and suddenly the doors of the jail sprang open. So it may be with us when pent up in the prison-house of gloom and melancholy. If we but sing a soulful song or let music into the soul, we are lifted to the Mount of Transfiguration, the bars of gloom are burst and the higher life of joy springs in, carrying with it more beatific beams than those rays from jailer's light. A kindly light is led through the encircling gloom. We may say with Eleanor Allen that,

When the day is dark and dreary, or when everything goes wrong, Chase away the gloom and darkness, Sing, O sing a cheerful song.

Sing at home around the fireside, here let sweetest music ring

Heart and mind and soul uplifting, with the music as we sing.

May we not digress for one moment here, and urge the people to take more interest in music generally, since we see its vast benefits. The school is the place to get this instruction and it should lie heavily upon the heart of patron and citizen, priest and parishoner, to do everything possible to further the cause of music in our schools. Aside from the fact that it gives culture, it makes the whole world brighter. Since it does this, it most certainly will brighten the school room, and we all know that many of them are sadly in need of something brighter.

A funeral service without a soulful hymn would become an even more sad occasion, for what note of condolence or sympathy can satisfy a sorrowing heart more than the subdued but sweet tones of that all but immortal song, "Asleep in Jesus." It is on such occasions that

"Music with her silver sound,

With speedily help doth lend redress."

Again the universality of music, in appealing to every deep human passion, impresses itself upon us, and that power which so effectively moves the passions must needs work a most wholesome transformation in the life of a citizen.

Music then is not local or sectarian. It was a Methodist who wrote the almost immortal strains of "Jesus, Lover of my Soul." But who thinks of John Wesley when the sublime melody of that grand old hymn is rendered? A Calvinist wrote the strains almost divine, of "Rock of Ages," but he lacks appreciation who suffers his mind to be transformed from that figure clinging to the rock and lets it rest upon the name or person of Toplady, the composer. That rock is equally firm to all sects and all ages.

With the ancients, I believe that music is a Therapeutic, for it is a divine message in that it saves and heals and brings us closer to heaven.

God sent His singers upon the earth With songs of sadness and of mirth, That they might touch the hearts of men And bring them back to heaven again.

Certainly a force so impellent as to bring men from earth to heaven can make a pre-eminently better and more substantial citizenship. It has been said, and truly so, that music is the echo of God's voice in the soul of man and most emphatically the citizen who has more of God's voice in him is a better citizen.

For such a reason as the last, should we not work more assiduously to the end that music will become a more prominent feature of our social and domestic life. Is it not an inspiration to a better life when we know that all good emanates from the omnipotent and that music is but His voice in our souls.

Since we see that music softens the hard heart, melts to pity, stirs the patriotic impulses, spurs the martial spirit and urges to victory, we know beyond the shadow of a doubt that it is one of the most powerful influences that can be brought to bear upon the making of a good citizen. Then why not urge every boy or girl possessing the least modicum of talent, to take lessons in this most useful subject.

Some say that music lies at the root of all human culture in the earliest ages. I hesitate to go to that extreme, but I do believe that much of the culture of this age as well as that of former ages, is attributable to music, and I shall strive in my humble manner to make it an important phase of the work of school life wherever my lot may be cast.

In the last place I am going to urge again that all take more interest in this art, for who ever heard of any service in heaven save the singing, praising and rejoicing of the angels. There is a record of no choir save a celestial choir. Do we not wish to join that and sing around the throne? Did any one ever hear of a choir in the regions under the earth, or the lower regions? If so, what would you call it but (may I say it) an infernal choir? My final exhortation shall be, let us strive to make better citizens by fitting ourselves for that immortal choir which sings in that building not made with hands eternal in the heavens. And may we be prepared the better to sing around the throne of God forever more.

A PERSISTENT contemporary suggests that now that President Roosevelt is unassuming himself respecting matters that could not expediently be discussed before the election, will he not tell the country what he knows of who got the $40,000,000 paid by the United States government for the old Panama Canal. This vast sum disappeared in a twinkling and all efforts to trace its whereabouts have proved unavailing. The President knows where it went. If he won't tell, Congress should make him. Somebody, probably many bodies, feathered their nests at the expense of the taxpayers of this country. Let the scandal be unearthed.

MEN who try to make the world better are getting the hot end of it just now, but truth crushed to earth will rise again. Senator Carmack was killed as the result of his fight against the whisky traffic. Prosecutor Heney was shot, probably fatally, because of his efforts to put grafters where they belong and Gov. Folk was relegated to the rear, politically, because of his war on theft in high as well as in low places, and so on. All of this, however, will not deter the right kind of men and officers in the discharge of their duties and we expect to see the work Carmack, Heney and Folk begun, continuing long after they have been forgotten.

THE postal deficit is $16,910,279, the largest in the history of the department. The entire cost of the postal department was $208,351,867. At this rate the republican platform promise of penny postage will be a long time materializing. The postmaster general will recommend a local parcel post for rural routes as a means of reducing the deficit. The rate proposed is 5 cents a pound and two cents additional for each pound up to 11, the maximum weight of a package. There are now more than 39,000 rural routes and over 18,000,000 people are served by them.

AN Indianapolis special to the Courier-Journal says: "The Republicans try to make it appear that Marshall's victory is a liquor victory, but the Democrats say it is nothing of the kind. They say the liquor issue was not really in the campaign, but was dragged in by Republican orators to fool the so-called good people, and it did fool a good many of them."

MR. WOODSON MAY, an experienced newspaper man and clever gentleman, has assumed the business management of the Somerset Journal and is also its local editor. He is well fitted for the place he fills and we predict increased business for that popular publication.

WHAT a pity it is that these so-called crazy people who try to take the life of good men and then kill themselves do not turn their guns on themselves first.

POLITICAL.

The democrats of the 25th circuit court district will nominate by primary election Dec. 31st.

Jackson L. Smith, for 16 years judge of the Missouri Court of Appeals, died in Kansas City.

Sidney G. Clay was nominated for representative by the democrats in Bourbon over John T. Collins.

The faction headed by Judge W. P. Yancey won the democratic nomination for the various county offices in Owen county.

Judge L. D. Lewis was nominated for circuit judge, and Ira Fields, for Commonwealth's attorney in the 33rd district, by the republicans.

Three defeated candidates in the recent Democratic primary in Calloway county have filed petitions with the committee for a recount of the vote. They charge fraud in several precincts.

Hon. Lillard H. Carter, of Lawrenceburg, has announced for speaker of the next House. He was recently nominated by the democrats for representative.

The Republican primary for county officers in Laurel, has been set for August 14. Already over 40 candidates for the offices are out and many more are expected to announce immediately after the judicial primary on December 5.

Bishop E. E. Hoss, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in speaking before the conference at Covington, Tenn., said: "If Carmack was killed for what he said in those editorials I should be killed also, for I affirm everything he said."

At the session of the American Federation of Labor at Denver a letter from William J. Bryan to Samuel Gompers was read. Mr. Bryan expressed his cordial thanks for the support given him by the labor men of the country at the recent election.

Gov. Hughes' expenses in his campaign for re-election of governor of New York are given as follows: Traveling and incidental expenses $200.16; for hotel bills, including telephones and messenger charges, $96.71, telegrams, $12.73 Total $309.65.

Victor H. Metcalf resigned as Secretary of the Navy and his resignation was accepted to take place December 1. Truman H. Newbury, the Assistant Secretary, will be elevated when Mr. Metcalf leaves. Ill health was the cause of Mr. Metcalf's action.

Champ Clark, who will be the next democratic floor leader of the House, reached Washington and took part in the deliberations of the Ways and Means Committee. After the day's hearings were over Mr. Clark expressed the opinion that little genuine revision of the tariff could be expected from the republicans.

State Senator Jack Chinn, we are told, will shortly announce for the Legislature. He says that the reason he is wanting to go back to Frankfort is that he wants an investigation of the penitentiary by the legislature, and says that if the people of Kentucky, women and all, knew the horrors behind those gloomy walls, they would move on Frankfort in a body and clamor at the doors of the prison for reform.—Harrisburg Democrat.

The Democratic primary election in Madison county Saturday was the quietest in the history of the county, due, it is claimed, to the no whisky and no money plan. The winners were: County Judge, W. Rhodes Shaekelford; County Attorney, O. P. Jackson; Sheriff, D. A. McCord; County Clerk, R. B. Terrill; Circuit Clerk, Roy C. White; Assessor, Shelby Taylor; School Superintendent, John Noland; Jailor, N. B. Jones; Coroner, C. D. Samuels.

CHURCH MATTERS.

The little known Church of Abyssinia has 3,000,000 adherents.

Quarterly conference at the Methodist church at 11:30 A. M. Saturday.

Rev. H. C. Morrison, of Wilmore, is conducting an interesting meeting at Minneapolis, Minn.

Miss Lucy Mahan, of London, begun a meeting at Hebron last night and will continue till further notice.

The pastoral changes made by Bishop Morrison at the Louisville conference caused an expense of $10,000 for moving.

Rev. D. W. Robertson, of Georgetown, will preach at the Methodist church Saturday at 10:30 A. M.; Sunday morning and night.

The ladies' missionary society of the Methodist church had an interesting and instructive meeting Sunday night, with a large attendance.

The fact that 2,764 missionaries have been eaten by the cannibals in Africa does not scare Mr. Roosevelt. He knows that he is too tough even for a cannibal to eat.

The Oklahoma conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, adopted a memorial in favor of amalgamation of the Northern and Southern Churches.

Rev. Dr. G. Brinley Morgan, one of the most noted Episcopal clergymen in Connecticut and rector of Christ's church, New Haven, was struck by an automobile and probably fatally hurt.

Rev. D. M. Walker will fill his pulpit at the Christian church Sunday morning. This will be good to his many friends who are glad that he is at last strong enough to resume his pastorate.

Agriculture In Schools.

The teaching of Agriculture in the country schools will not only be of decided advantage to the rising generation but will be of benefit to farmers of the present day. The book teaching at the schools, to be effective, must be supplemented by practical demonstration at home, or, better still, by practical application on school farms. The country is surcharged with theoretical farmers and agricultural spellbinders, some of whom talk for wages and others talk just to hear the echo of their voices. They are doing more harm than good. Attach a small field to each country school and have the boys put in practice that which they learn from the books and an interest will be evoked which will result in better farmers for the future and an improvement on farming of the present.—Bamberge.

Important To Tobacco Growers.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee, November 11th, it was decided to price the different grades of the 1907 tobacco not later than November 17th, and that this tobacco be put on sale November 24th.

In view of this action, it is very important that all types be sent in at once, that every one's tobacco may participate in the opening sales. Large orders are on file which are expected to consume the balance of the 1906 crop and a large part of the 1907 crop. All purchasers must take one hoghead of the old crop with every four hogheads they buy of the 1907 crop.

Rheumatism

I have found a tried and tested cure for Rheumatism! Not a remedy that will straighten the distorted limbs of chronic cripples, nor turn bony growths back to flesh again. That is impossible! But I can now surely kill the pains and pangs of this deplorable disease. In Germany—with a Chemist in the City of Darmstadt—I found the last ingredient with which Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy was made a perfected, dependable prescription. Without that last ingredient, I successfully treated many, many cases of Rheumatism; but now, at last, I uniformly cure all curable cases of this heretofore much dreaded disease. Those and-like granular wastes, found in Rheumatic Blood, seem to dissolve and pass away under the action of this remedy as freely as does sugar when added to pure water. And then, when dissolved, these poisonous wastes freely pass from the system, and the cause of Rheumatism is gone forever. There is now no real need—no actual cause to suffer long without help. We sell, and in confidence recommend

The American Tobacco Company offered the tobacco growers $7,200,000 for 60 per cent. of 80,000,000 pounds of tobacco in the pool in Kentucky, but the representatives of the growers, objecting to the premature publication of the offer, adjourned without ratifying the offer.

The Cardinal, the property of Mrs. W. A. McGibbon, won the heavyweight class in the National Horse Show at New York from 26 entries. Cardinal was the team-mate of Chancellor, the pair being shown at the Kentucky fairs during the 1908 season by T. H. Smiley and winning more than 100 blue ribbons and numerous red ones.

DANVILLE COURT.—A small crowd attended Danville court yesterday and business of all kinds was slow. The cattle market was especially quiet, there being only about 25 on the market. Clay Bottom sold 10 heifer calves at $9.05. J. D. Whitehouse sold a pair of mules for $225 and to W. C. Carpenter a bunch of yearling steers at 3 1/2c. Mr. Whitehouse bought 30 sheep at 5c.

Over 2,500 turkeys have been brought to the slaughter pens in this city, says a Richmond dispatch, in the last three days. The crop is about 50 per cent better this season than last, and the price is about 50 per cent less than last year at this time. On foot, turkeys are selling here for nine and 10 cents, and it is predicted that they will not advance any higher than 12 1/2 cents, dressed.

While the corn crop is short in Kentucky owing to the severe drought, it is not so all over the country. Preliminary reports by the Departments of Agriculture show that the corn crop is larger per acre and larger in the aggregate than last year, and that the quality is decidedly better than it was a year ago, or for an average of 10 years. All the crops this year are highly satisfactory. Few records are broken, but quantities are large, and prices good, and the aggregate value taken out of the ground will probably foot up more than ever before.

Democracy Not Dead.

Declaring the Democratic party cannot die and has accomplished more out of office in the last 12 years than the Republican party has in office, W. J. Bryan bids his supporters not despair. In the last issue of his Commoner, he speaks of the election results and discusses the future. He says:

"The election of 1908 is over and the returns disclose a signal victory for our opponents, but the principles for which our party stands, the policies for which our party contends, these are not dead.

"Does any one believe the American people will permanently permit secrecy as to campaign contributions? Does any one believe the American people will permanently permit the will of the voters to be thwarted as it is now by the election of Senators through Legislatures? Does any one believe the trusts will be permitted permanently to exploit the masses? Does any one believe the consumer will permanently permit the tariff to be written by the beneficiaries of that tariff? Does any one believe the public will permanently tolerate an estrangement between labor and capital? Does any one believe 15,000,000 of depositors will forever permit their savings to be jeopardized as at present? Does any one believe the extravagance of government will go on forever unchecked? Does any one believe our Republic will permanently consent to a colonial policy with its humiliations and its financial burdens? "During the last 12 years the Democratic party has accomplished more out of office than the Republican party has accomplished in office, and this is a sufficient reward for those who fight for the righteous cause. It would have been pleasant to have been able to reward worthy Democrats with official positions. They are looking for good government, and they labor unselfishly for the promotion of good government.

"As for myself, let no one worry about my future. The holding of office is a mere incident in the life of those who are devoted to reforms. The reform is the essential thing. If one can advance reforms by holding office, then holding of office is justifiable; if one can best advance reforms as a private citizen, then holding office is undesirable.

"The world owes me nothing. I have been abundantly compensated for what I have been able to do. My life will not be long enough to repay the people for their support and for the confidence they have expressed.

"With an abiding faith in the triumph of truth and an unflinching confidence in the righteousness of our cause, I speak this word of encouragement to those who call themselves friends. I shall keep step with them and march on. If we are right, as I believe we are, it will vindicate us; if we contribute, as I believe we are contributing, to a cause that is founded on justice, our efforts will weigh in final victory."

Resolutions Passed by the Democratic Senatorial Committee of the 18th District.

Be it resolved by the democratic county chairmen of Lincoln, Boyle, Casey and Garrard counties, composing the 18th Senatorial district of Kentucky, that a call be issued by the Democratic Senatorial Committee of the 18th Senatorial district of Kentucky for a mass convention to be held at the respective county seats of several counties in said district on the 17th day of November, 1908, at the hour of 2 P. Be it further resolved:

That the basis of representation from the said several counties in said 18th district shall be as follows: One delegate for each 200 votes cast for the democratic nominee for president in the election of 1904 or fractional part of said 200 votes, and

Be it further resolved:

Be it further resolved:

That the delegates selected from the several counties to attend the Senatorial District Convention and who shall hold credentials as such, signed by the Chairman and Secretary of the County Convention, shall be prima facie entitled as delegates to organize and participate in the District Convention.
